LEAGUE CLUBS WILL NOT CONSOLIDATE

Ban Johnson is Vindicated of Treachery and Comiskey Adds Few Nice Words.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, November 23.—President Ban Johnson came out of the annual meeting of the American Baseball League to-day vindicated of the charges made against him of trying to wreck the organization by bringing about an amalgamation with the National League. A resolution offered by Secretary Benjamin Minor of the Washington Club, and voted for by every club in the league, President Johnson's management of the affairs of the league was endorsed.

"That a vital principle, underlying the organization of the American League, having been to protect against arbitrary monopoly in baseball, the American League states emphatically that it has not needed one inch from that principle, and is now as it has always been, in hearty and earnest accord with the policy of the president of this league, who has consistently worked and fought for the maintenance of two independent but friendly major league organizations."

The resolution renders Mr. Johnson the thanks of the league "for the able, conservative and business-like manner with which he has conducted its affairs," and expresses confidence in his loyalty and judgment. President Comiskey, of the Chicago American League Club, addressed the meeting on the resolution, saying that he had the utmost confidence in President Johnson, and that his statement in regard to the proposed amalgamation of the two major leagues had been misunderstood.

Not much has been heard of late concerning Federal place which was to be given Judge Lewis. It was believed here that when the judge retired from the position of United States district attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, to accept the Republican nomination to the governorship, that he would be appointed to an office, probably here in Washington, if defeated.

But he was so badly whipped that the President may reconsider and select for appointment to the place which he intended for Judge Lewis a man whom he thinks better capable of leading the party in Virginia. In fairness to the judge, however, it should be said that people do not believe he ever misled the President regarding the strength of the party in Virginia. Certainly, it is not Judge Lewis to go as far as Representative Slomp went, and in his speeches he steadfastly refrained from predicting his own election.

son could not even make the defeat honorable.

As a matter of fact, it is stated that the President will tell Mr. Slomp exactly what he thinks concerning the result of the election. President Johnson, and that the President will also let it be known that somebody else will have something to say concerning the disposition of Federal patronage in the State. There has never been a more dictatorial boss in Virginia politics, though there have been many far abler. Mr. Slomp has insisted on being the "whole show" and on having a finger in every pie involving an office in the gift of the President. As a result, he has lost the support of the party in Virginia. He drove Park Agnew from the State chairmanship and the office of collector of internal revenue for the Alexandria District, and he placed his son in the chairmanship and Lou Summers, his principal henchman, in the Ninth District, in the office of collector of the Alexandria District. Mr. Agnew men are not saying anything. The Agnew men are not saying anything. The Agnew men are not saying anything in discussing Virginia politics, but he does not care to say much about the future of
